Attention Self-Advocates:

- Do you want to work for human rights in your community?
- Do you want to work to be a leader in our state?
- Are you involved in a self-advocacy group?

If so, read on.

You are invited to apply, in teams of three, to be part of the 2019 class of the ACT Center's groundbreaking leadership training program, the ACT Olmstead Academy. Starting in January 2019, the Academy will train 21 leaders from across the state. These new leaders, in teams of three, will spend all of 2019 helping push for human rights for people with disabilities. In particular, they will work on projects that help people in their own communities to be more integrated in the community.

This packet tells you about the ACT Olmstead Academy and how to apply. Please read through it. If you are interested, please gather your team of three and apply, by filling out pages 7 and 8 of this packet. The application deadline is October 31, 2018 at 5:00 pm.

Please call me at ACT Center if you have any questions. I look forward to your application. Thank you.

Background

What is the Olmstead Ruling?

The Olmstead Ruling helped spark a nationwide push to make sure that Americans with disabilities are included in the community, not segregated.

In 1999, the US Supreme Court ruled that segregation of people with disabilities is illegal. This “Olmstead Decision” said people with disabilities are best served alongside everyone else. They (we) must be integrated in the community as much as possible, with supports necessary. We all belong where everyone else is, whether that's jobs, housing, school, doctor's office, or playing golf. Full supports for full inclusion.

The Minnesota Olmstead Plan

The ACT Olmstead Academy is a way for people with disabilities to be a part of the big changes now happening in our state. Minnesota is now under a court-ordered mandate to increase community integration for people with disabilities -- through devising an “Olmstead Plan” with measureable objectives. This focus on integration has given new energy to the state's self-advocacy movement, to frame its ongoing efforts to secure rights for people with developmental disabilities as part of a larger struggle for the human right of community integration.

What is the ACT Olmstead Academy?

ACT Center has responded to this “Olmstead moment” by launching the ACT Olmstead Academy. The Academy is a 12-month program of classroom and fieldwork through which self-advocates are positioned as leaders within state's Olmstead Plan. Using ACT Center's four decades of experience in leadership building based on the proven methods of popular education, the ACT Olmstead Academy gives participants a hands-on opportunity to learn together and then go help spread the word about integration.

Background

Working in teams, participants carry out an integration project in their own community, and tell what they need to be more integrated in their own community. The 2018 class of the ACT Olmstead Academy is now carrying out their team projects. This coming December, they will present their project results at a public event in the chambers of US Federal District Judge Donovan Frank.

Bottom line: the ACT Olmstead Academy will train self-advocates to help the state create more and better integration. The Academy graduates will be leaders, working in teams to help their communities, help other self-advocates, and help themselves to be more involved in their community life.

How does the ACT Olmstead Academy work?

Academy participation is by team. Seven teams of three will be accepted for the Class of 2019. Teams will attend two “classroom” sessions in the Twin Cities area, then spend time between and after those sessions creating and doing a project in their home community. See p.4 for exact dates.

All aspects of this exciting program will be led by ACT Center instructors and community experts with experience in human rights leadership. Teams will be guided to choose a local project, and then work to implement it between and after the sessions, finishing in December 2019. Teams will be paired with organizer mentors to help them with their project. Each team will also be given funds to use for paying expenses that are part of their projects.

Session 2: April 16 - 19, 2019 (four hotel nights April 15-18)

Project Implementation Period: May 2019 -December 2019

Final Session & Report: Dec. 12-13, 2019 (one hotel night Dec 12).

What You Need to Know

Teams Apply: You apply as a team of three (3) people: two self-advocates and one ally. So first create your team, then apply. Team members should have experience working with each other, perhaps in the same self-advocacy group.

Seven statewide teams accepted: Teams from anywhere around the state of Minnesota are eligible. Seven teams will be accepted.

Time Commitment: Please consider carefully. Participation in the Academy is a big commitment of time, spanning all of 2019. Both individuals and teams must commit to:

- taking part in all sessions, and to
- working 2-4 hours per week between sessions, and
- completing their project by December 2019.

No pre-requisite: There is no prerequisite; anyone with any experience level is welcome to apply. But when choosing among applications, the Academy staff will give preference to teams and individuals that have experience working with others to make changes in their community.

Deadline: The deadline for applying is October 31, 2018 at 5:00 pm.

Two-Part Application: The application has two parts:

- one part for teams: tell us about your team and its history and experience working together (one per team)
- one part for individuals: each of your three team members tells about themselves (one per person)
- all applicants will also be interviewed before being accepted

PreWork (if you are accepted): If your team is accepted, then you and your team will need to do some preparation in December 2018 and early January 2019, before the first session starts on January 22, 2019. Academy leaders will guide you through this prework, but it will include:

- participating in a conference call led by Academy staff
- finding a host agency who can receive and process your funds on behalf of your team,
- shoring up your transportation to and from

Where do Academy participants stay?

The program includes nine (9) nights at the Doubletree By Hilton in downtown St. Paul.

January (4 nights): You will arrive in St. Paul and check into your hotel room on Monday evening, January 21, 2019 and check out of your hotel room on Friday, January 25, 2019.

April (4 nights): You will arrive in St. Paul and check into your hotel room on Monday evening April 15, 2019 and check out of your hotel room on Friday, April 19, 2019.

December (1 night): Arrive Thursday, December 12, 2019 for noon lunch, then overnight in hotel, checking in after afternoon session. You'll be checking out the next day--Friday, Dec 13, 2019.

Your lodging cost depends on if you share a room or have a single room. If you are able to share a double room with another Olmstead Academy participant, you each pay about $86 per night (includes breakfast). If sharing a room does not work for you, your per-night cost is double that amount ($172 per night). Once you decide the type of room that works for you, the ACT Center will make your hotel room reservation and invoice your group for that cost. Note: These cost estimates are subject to change.

Where does the Academy meet? All Academy sessions will be held in the Department of Employment and Economic Development (DEED) meeting rooms, just a few blocks away from the hotel. (DEED is in the First National Bank Building 332 Minnesota St., Suite E200 St. Paul, MN 55101-1351.) We will walk together to and from the meeting location and the hotel.

Are meals covered? Some are, some aren't. Breakfast is included in your hotel cost. The Academy provides lunch and refreshment breaks each day, and one dinner. Participants are responsible for paying their other dinners: eight (8) dinners would total perhaps about $224.

Is transportation covered? No. Transportation to and from St. Paul is not covered. There is also a charge to park your vehicle at the hotel.

Program costs? Participants do not have to pay any program costs. The costs for this twelve-month program are underwritten by DHS, our lead program sponsor, and other sponsors (at $14,000 per team).

Total cost to participants. Participants only pay for their own lodging (approx. $774 for shared room, 9 nights) and eight dinners (approx. $224). Total cost to participants: approx $998 per person.
